A JUMP INTO...

As students moved into Elon College in the fall, they were unsure of exactly what they were leaping into. Each came with certain expectations in mind, yet Elon had a few surprises in store.

Of course there were Elon traditions, such as College Coffee, Parents' Weekend, and Fall Convocation, at which Dr. Parker J. Palmer issued a challenge to students: "Face into fear; live from the inside out."

While students attempted to deal with what was going on "inside," they were forced to adjust to changes on the outside as well....

...LEAP YEAR

...Renovations were made in both Powell and Carlton, while plans were unveiled in early October for an enlarged athletic facility and a new student center.

Since the last leap year in 1988, Elon has gradually expanded. The Fine Arts Center opened that academic year, and construction of the Jimmy Powell Tennis Center began.

With these changes and improvements, along with the ever-evolving student population, students were set for an exciting year of leaping into Elon! BILL WALKER

Student life is a complicated thing. Involvement bounds from academics to athletics, organizations to socialization. With so many concerns, students just wanted to leap into fun.

But as proven by the microwaved Eversoft, the concept of fun varied among students. During the first three weeks of school, incidents involving radical uses for microwaves invoked the removal of all of these appliances from the dorm lounges until later in the fall semester.

However, other less harmful events were also enjoyable. Club-sponsored activities ranged from dances to stand-up comedians to hilarious games. Exploring Burlington sometimes proved to be both amusing and entertaining.

Events such as Homecoming, Parents' Weekend, and even breaks were exciting parts of campus life.

All things considered, student life, though sometimes rambunctious, provided a lighter side to academia.

STUDENT LIFE

It has been scientifically proven that the human brain needs time away from the vigors of homework and studying, time to rejuvenate itself and prepare to face more of what college life has to dish out. This important activity is commonly referred to as "kicking back," relaxing, or just hanging out. The place where most students choose to do this is at the fountain. The fountain has become synonymous with a good time and "the place to be." Freshman Melanie Beitman said, "There are always people there no matter what time of the day."

The fountain is not only used as a hangout, it is also the sight of Thursday mornings College Coffee: a time for students, faculty, and administrators to get together and discuss anything from class assignments and beyond. SUSAN SWANSON

Parents Get a Taste of Elon

One weekend was set aside for some very special people. That weekend is Parents' Weekend. Just when some students are feeling homesick, parents are invited to join in Elon fun.

During the weekend parents are welcomed to attend many events. The Student Union Board presented Chicago City Limits, a comedy and improv group. Early Saturday morning, seminars were opened for students and parents to learn more about what Elon has to offer. A time was set aside for parents to meet their child's professors. In the afternoon, parents and students were found under the oaks enjoying the Fall Feast. Then it was off to cheer on our Fighting Christians at the football game.

Other events, such as the Lacrosse game, a parent/child golf tournament, and a special banquet dinner offered parents entertainment.

This special weekend gave parents an opportunity to get a feel for their child's new "home away from home." DANI DEVEAU

SUBmerge in Campus Activities

Elon has a variety of campus activities to offer students such as the Wellness Center, the Fine Arts productions, and organizations. However, the Student Union Board is the main source of these activities. The activities make the students on campus feel like there's nothing they can't do. This is SUB's goal: to bring students the activities they want.

To ring in the fall semester, a "New Student" mixer was held. HBO comedian A.J. Jamal came on campus to humor students.

Blizzard of Bucks, a traveling game show offered students a chance to win some cash.

A Las Vegas Night, where comedian-ventriloquist Jim Barber & Seville performed, let students gamble for prizes.

Every week SUB shows top-rated movies in Whitley such as "Dances with Wolves" and "Jungle Fever."

The activities on campus give students something to do, but more importantly, they are inviting and enjoyable. NICOLE SMITH

Mardi Gras...

The excitement of Mardi Gras hit Elon as 25 campus organizations participated in celebrating Homecoming.

The week began with the judging of the banners that each organization created. The colorful designs included such things as masks, costumes, and confetti.

Spirited students attended and participated in the skits held in Whitley Auditorium. Loud cheers were heard from across campus as the skits were performed.

As Homecoming day drew near, students voted for queen and put money in the candidates' decorated jars. The organizations were continuously working on their floats as well. Finally, the big day arrived.

The day began with a colorful parade. The creative floats circled the campus. Mardi Gras bead necklaces and candy were thrown from the floats to the enthusiastic viewers.

Many Elon fans raced to see the Fightin' Christians play. Spirit soared, fans cheered as...

Finally, the anticipated moment came, and the queen was announced. Hope and curiosity overwhelmed the crowd. The results informed all that Sigma Sigma Sigma, represented by Cathy Miller, received the crown.

After halftime, the game continued. Due to the hard work of the players, the score was tied and the game went into overtime. The game remained close, which kept Elon spirits high. However, it ended in our loss, 13-10.

Graduation '91

Saying farewell is not easy, but graduating from college can sure be a relief. It is a time of anxiety and uncertainty. What will I do? Where will I go? Will I find a job? are the many questions that run through a senior's mind.

To ease the '91 graduates, Furman Mosely, the Commencement speaker, offered words of encouragement and motivation. He addressed the students' anxiety and relayed his own success story. He even offered each student a seedling from a redwood tree as a symbol of growth.

Although graduation day was scorchingly hot and humid, spirits were high as each graduate took the first steps toward his/her future. BETH LOWERY

Elon Spirit is on the Rise

The spirit of Elon is rising. Students can be found cheering for the Fightin' Christians at football, basketball, and many other games. Showing their support and enthusiasm has become a favored past time.

Even the Student Government is trying to make Elon's spirit shine. Since basketball games have always been very popular, the SGA has organized events, prizes, gift certificates and awarded money to show appreciation for all the student support.

Before the start of the games, names were drawn and prizes given out during halftime. All this just for attending an Elon game.

With this incentive, school spirit is bound to rise. TRACY ANDERSON

Workin' for the Money ?

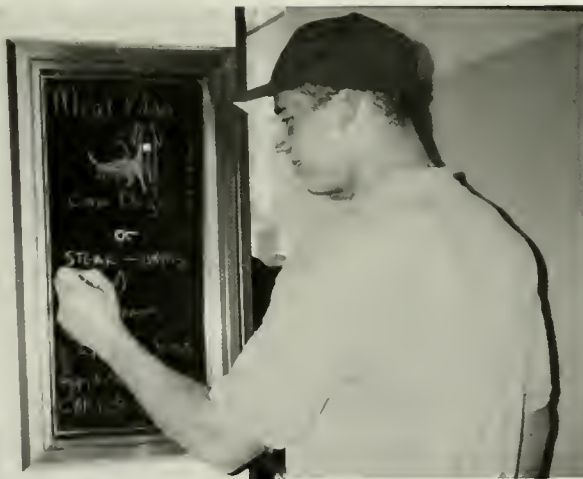

It makes the world go round. Some may say it is the root of all evil. It is that necessary driving force in any young person's life. When asked why they had these on-campus jobs, most of the students answered with the one word that summed it all up -- "money." Other students attempted to hide their mad pursuit of economic utopia with thinly disguised excuses such as, "I like working with people," or "I'm doing it for the experience."

Just as Hercules endured the seven labors in exchange for his ultimate salvation, students survived the torture of their jobs for the exhilaration of holding in their little fingers that magical piece of paper -- the paycheck.

Despite the anguish, the noble pursuit of money continues. The surprise is that often jobs did not have to be all bad. Students remarked that they like their jobs because it makes them feel like they are doing something beneficial. Freshman Bridget Dougherty, who works with Professor Cates, summed it up by saying the experience has helped her become familiar with the computer. SUSAN SWANSON

Battle of the Bands

The Student Union Board sponsored the Battle of the Bands for those talented students who get together and form a band.

Seven bands were given the opportunity to perform for the school and show off their musical talent. The panel of judges watched each band perform and then tallied up their scores.

Band members held their breath as the winner was announced. The audience cheered on The Brothers In Funk as its members were given first place.

Battle of the Bands is a great time for students to show off their musical capabilities as well as just have a good time.

Need a Ride?

Are you looking for someone to take you home for a break? Or maybe someone to ride along with you and share the gas expense? The best place to find such a person is the Ride Board that is located on the second floor of the Long Student Center.

This service is provided to students by the Office of Campus Activities.

It is a great help to many stranded students and lonely drivers. TONYA BLANCHARD

Denise Cipriano and November Salter along with other students, gather at the Ride Board to find rides home for Fall Break.

How old are you?

Beth Lowery

Your birthday only comes once a year. Imagine if it only came once every four years. For one Elon student this is a reality. Sophomore Kim Cooper was born on February 29. That's right, the day that only happens every four years.

Even though Kim's birthday is not an annual event, she does celebrate every year. Kim celebrates on the 28th of February and/or March 1st or "as long as I can get away with it," Kim added.

When it comes down to it, Kim describes her unusual birthday as "normal" and "not that exciting." DANI DE VEAU

In Memory of Chad Edward Macy

On the morning of March 1, 1992, a valued member of the freshman class was taken from the Elon College Community. Chad Edward Macy was killed in a tragic automobile accident in the town of Elon College. Chad was an honors student, member of the football team, and a Kappa Sigma Fraternity pledge. Members of the College Community gathered with Chad's family on the evening of March 1 to mourn his loss. A memorial service was held at the Elon College Community Church on March 3, 1992. Chad's fraternity pledge pin and his football jersey and helmet were presented to his family. Chad will be missed by his family, friends, and the entire College Community.

Keep it in the Family

Kristen and Jeff Kluttz enjoy each other's company during their college years.

When going off to college, many students anticipate being on their own and leaving their families behind. But that is not true for some students at Elon. These students decided to share their college years at the same school as their brothers, sisters, and cousins.

Sonya and Tonya Stanley are identical twins who share a room, clothes, and even their majors. Both enjoy each other's company and are best friends. Tonya explained, "We will always have each other."

Cousins Darren and Lorie Falk room together at Sheridan Place. Lorie became interested in Elon when she visited Darren while she was in high school.

Kristen and Jeff Kluttz are brother and sister. They see each other every day. Jeff mentioned that he "has met a lot of people through Kristen, who is now a senior." Jeff also said, "It's nice to have a family member to talk to since I'm so far away from home."

Having a family member around does have its advantages. ANGELA HACKETT

Elon 101

What is Elon all about? New students are offered the chance to find out exactly what Elon has to give by taking the class Elon 101.

Students are given the opportunity to talk about themselves and listen to other students share their feelings.

The faculty advisor and an upper level student are there to counsel as well as be friends.

Many Elon 101 classes enjoy activities, such as dinner, outside of the classroom.

Taking this class is one more way for freshmen to feel comfortable at their new home away from home. BETH LOWERY

Fightin' with the Crowd

Ben Cannon

One thing never fails when attending an Elon football or basketball game. Elon's mascot, the Fightin' Christian, can always be found leading the crowd in its support.

Wearing the costume and goofing around with the cheerleaders is how the Fightin' Christian gets the crowd involved in cheering for the football as well as basketball teams.

Elon games would not be the same without the enthusiastic support of our mascot. BETH LOWERY

From Class to Career

Beth Lowery

Elon prides itself on turning out ambitious students who are bound for success. To show the confidence in graduating students, each year some of these new alumni pursue their careers right here at their alma mater.

There are many Elon graduates now working in such offices as Admissions, Financial Planning, Development, and Campus Activities.

These alumni may have the advantage when taking a position at Elon since they know about the school, academically and socially.

Elon is a beautiful school, one that is definitely hard to leave.

Faculty/Staff Art Show

Ben Cannon

You can see students' artwork displayed daily along the walls of the Fine Arts Center. What about the talent of Elon's faculty and staff? Well, they got their chance to shine.

On Sunday, November 3, the Elon Faculty and Staff Art Show opened in the Isabella Cannon Room. The show was open to any member of the faculty or staff as well as those retired.

The show displayed works of 36 participants. There was a variety of mediums shown, some of which were photography, drawings, quilting, sewing, wood-carving, blown glass, stained glass, and metal works.

The art show was made possible by history professor George Troxler and ceramics professor Mike Sanford. The concept of the show was "to provide an opportunity for faculty and staff to share their hobbies and artistic abilities with the rest of the college community," stated Sanford. DANI DE VEAU

Programs in the arts and academics challenged students to leap beyond the "requirements."

The Fine Arts Center was home not only to fine arts classes, but also to many productions, including the musical "Fiddler On the Roof," which was performed during Homecoming. The facilities provided in the Fine Arts Center enhance musical, creative arts, theatrical, and communications education and performance alike.

This coordination was also reflected in other academic aspects. Special programs such as the honors program and North Carolina Teaching Fellows extended educational opportunities. The study abroad program allowed for the further exploration of cultural differences.

Students were also encouraged in their academic pursuits by the availability of labs such as the Writing Center.

The arts and academic challenges presented students with exceptional opportunities to take another leap!

Taking A Leap Into... Being a Fellow

What are fellows? Fellows is the name given to those students who have proved themselves academically and were awarded scholarships for their outstanding achievements.

There are three types of Elon fellows: Honors Fellows, chosen from their high school records and performance in competition with other students; Leadership Fellows, chosen for their potential to succeed as leaders here and elsewhere; and Teaching Fellows, those students who demonstrated to the North Carolina Public School Forum and Elon College that they have what it takes to be outstanding teachers for North Carolina.

The amounts awarded range in value from $1000 per year to full four-year scholarships. Honors Fellows have opportunities to travel and be interns, but it is not all play! These students experience the added pressure to continue to succeed. Nonetheless, these programs offered unique opportunities which were well accepted. REBEKAH SACCO

TAKING A LEAP OVER TO... THE FINE ARTS CENTER

Ben Cannon

Elon is often cited for its tradition, programs, and beautiful campus. One of the newest buildings on campus, the Fine Arts Center, follows this criteria for tradition in the arts, varied programs, and attractive design. It houses classroom and office facilities for the art, music, drama, communication, and dance programs. Since its opening in the 1987-88 school year, the Fine Arts building has been a learning and cultural center for Elon and the surrounding community. It is not unusual for there to be plays, concerts and performances on each day of the week—in addition to the classes and rehearsals for Elon students. The cultural events are diverse, ranging from Russian Folk Music to comedians and dramatic performances. Students are encouraged to get involved in the programs and to attend cultural events that are offered at the center. If you are looking for a chorus group to join, or a comedy to enjoy, then take a trip to the Fine Arts Center and check it out! REBEKAH SACCO

Taking A Leap Into... Learning Resources

When it comes to learning resources at Elon, the college has it covered! With so many choices like the LaRose Resource and Writing centers, Alamance and Mooney computer labs, and the McEwen Library, its almost guaranteed that students will find what they need. At the LaRose Resource Center, faculty support, tutorial services for students, and audiovisual equipment can all be found. The Writing Center houses a unique program that assists students with writing those papers so often required. Computers are available around the clock (at least most of it!) at Alamance and Mooney labs for those students who do not have their own or need courseware for a specific course. Elon's extensive library offers a quiet place to study as well as 165,000 volumes and 53,000 government documents for research. Academics is only a step away from students with the help of Elon's great resources. REBEKAH SACCO

Taking a leap into... Cultural Events

What do the following have in common?

Edward Jackman, comedian-juggler; 19th century Russia and present day Russia; gymnastic modern dance; Czech poetry; Elan; and instrument ensembles. Not much, except, they were all cultural events at Elon College. This seems like a long list, but there were actually many more. These programs, organized by various sources, are an important part of an Elon education. Many students are required to attend certain events, but there were always students who attended Elon cultural events simply because they were enjoyable. The variety and quality of each one demonstrate the depth of resources made available to students and the community.

Taking a Leap to... Study Abroad

As part of a "complete" college education, Elon encourages its students to participate in foreign travel. These are not just vacations from school but study opportunities that add credit hours toward graduation. There are many different countries to choose from—and where you go depends on you.

Perhaps the most popular Study Abroad program is the trip to London, England. It can be made in the Fall, Winter, or Spring term. While in London, Elon students live in flats belonging to the college and attend classes either taught by Elon faculty or arranged by Elon with British professors.

One of the parts enjoyed the most by students is Spring Break. Travel to any part of Europe is possible—and most students take advantage of this fact.

In Elon's unique exchange program with Japan, an entire year of schooling is possible. Other Winter Term programs include Mexico and Costa Rica, and summer terms are possible in places like Spain and Russia.

Wherever you decide to go will be an experience to remember later in life. Study Abroad is definitely an aspect of an Elon education that shouldn't be missed—because it cannot be replaced. REBEKAH SACCO

Athletics energized players and spectators throughout the year with thrilling performances. The seasonal changes were accompanied by a variety of activities from football to soccer and basketball to tennis, and so on. Via leaps and bounds, the Fightin' Christians reached a new level of competitiveness.

Team and individual sports gained respect for their victories, despite the occasional and sometimes inevitable losses. However, the continuing accomplishments of the tennis, baseball, soccer, golf, and other teams were highly celebrated.

The variety of intramurals also grabbed students' attention, resulting in a growing number of participants and more successful programs. Furthermore, the intramural program offered students not participating in recognized sports opportunities to be involved in athletic activities.

Whether leading the charge or cheering from the sidelines, the excitement of student athletics leaped ahead.

New experience seemed to be the ultimate aim for the women's tennis team. The road was long and hard, but it led to the NAIA National Tournament. The women started with wins in four singles matches and two doubles matches during the South Atlantic Conference Tournament.

The next step was District 26 play-offs. The team's success throughout this tournament gave it the green light to go to Kansas City. This was the first national tournament for the women's team in Elon history. The teammates making this triumphant journey were Helen O'Dea, Colleen Smythe, Amy Richardson, Kristin Greene, Coleen Kirk, Jane Frye, and Ann Mahanes.

Due to this new challenge, Coach Jackie Myers quoted in a local newspaper: "Everybody is going to be so excited and nervous that I don't know how well we are going to play."

However, much to the team's delight and that of their fans, the team finished the season ranked 11th in the nation. JEN DRAYSON

The men's tennis team had quite a reputation to follow, and they played strongly to do just that. Trying to fulfill their role as 1990 NAIA Champions, they swung their way into the District Championship title for the fourth time in five years. Team Captain Mike Leonard led the team to become South Atlantic Conference Men's Champions for the fifth time and to finish 11th in the national tournament.

Leonard, an experienced senior, and freshman Peter Lindstrom were recognized as First Team All-American players. Several other teammates also helped the team to advance, including Andy Faehlmann playing in third position and Jason Abhau, playing his final season. Serving at fifth and sixth positions were John Morel and John Hodges.

With five out of six starters being new, Coach Tom Parham felt that the conference and district wins, along with being ranked 11th in the nation, made for an excellent season. "I am particularly proud of Michael Leonard and Peter Lindstrom for being named NAIA All-Americans," he said.

By combining the talents of all the players, the men's tennis team was able to complete a year of success. SARA JOYNER

Playing in the Rain...

Webster's Dictionary defines rain as "water condensed from atmospheric vapor falling to the earth in drops." Elon baseball defines it as water condensed from atmospheric vapor falling to earth in enough drops to cause a game delay of up to 10 days.

Elon's last two road trips were scheduled as follows: play Saturday, and play Sunday while staying in Newport, Tennessee, then return home before going back to Newport on Wednesday for the conference tournament and come home Saturday. What it resulted in, however, was: play Saturday, rain Sunday, rain Monday, play Tuesday, rest Wednesday, play Thursday in rain, delay play Friday because of rain, play Saturday in rain, and play Sunday in rain before coming home. This schedule change provided a 10-day stay at the "University of Elon", Newport, Tennessee, formerly the Holiday Inn.

Amazingly enough, the team won the tournament after a first game loss to Catawba, 15-4. Coach Mike Harden stated, "The stay helped us focus as a team, and we managed to keep our sanity." The team closed the season with a disappointing loss in the District 26 Tournament but experienced an eventful and a predominantly successful season. KRISTIN TWILLEY

SAC Tournament - 3rd

This year's team finished a very respectable season, third in the conference. Although they could not repeat last year's District 26 championship, the season was a success.

The main idea that flowed through the season was FUN. That fun came from many different situations. Some of these instances were snakes in the outfield, arguments over hotel rooms, losing the van keys, and playing games in the snow.

Even Coach Sue Leonard experienced fun in coaching. "The girls, because they get along so well, are very compatible."

Throughout this enjoyment, the team never lost its spirit of competition. They played well and fought hard this season to produce three All-Conference players: Angie Padon, Allison McCorkle, and Laura Case; Conference Freshman of the Year Allison McCorkle; and three All-District players: Laura Case, Angie Padon, and Donna Leigh.

"We were disappointed with third place," remarked Coach Leonard. "That says something about the competitiveness of the team and with most players returning we should be even more competitive next year." ANDREA SUBER

As a result of their determination and teamwork, the golf team experienced a tremendously successful season. The team posted five tournament wins during regular and post-season play: the William & Mary Intercollegiate, the Max Ward Intercollegiate, the Carson-Newman Intercollegiate, the South Atlantic Conference title, and the District 26 Tournament, which qualified them for the national tournament.

The NAIA National Tournament was held at Twin Hills Golf and Country Club in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, May 21 through 24. This marked the team's 15th appearance in the tournament in 18 years, which demonstrated the outstanding history of the college's golf team.

The season produced two All-Americans: Brad Burnside was awarded Conference Player of the Year, and Tim Clark was named District Player of the Year.

Coach Bill Morningstar commented on the team's unique history and performance. "It's special to be a part of the national tournament. Elon College has been fortunate over the years to have outstanding golfers," he said.

The team finished the season ranked third in the nation, separated from first place by only two points. MARCY BAILEY

Rocky Start Levels to Winning Season

Elon's 1991 football season started off with a loss to Wofford College, but the team rallied back in the following weeks to defeat N.C. Central and Fayetteville State. The win over Mars Hill proved to be an astounding victory, which included Joe Randolph's 98-yard opening kickoff return, Roosevelt Brooks' 100-yard interception, and Marcus Stewart's 48-yard touchdown throw at the end of the first half.

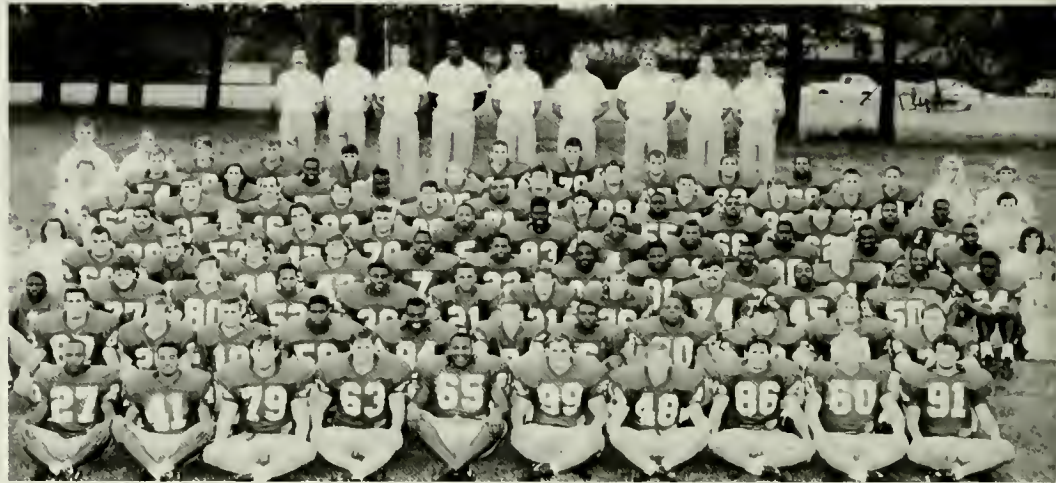

Although the season was full of ups and downs on the playing field, the 31-21 victory over Wingate College marked the end of the first winning season for Coach Leon Hart and his Fightin' Christians since 1988. The Christians ended the season with a record of 6-5 overall and 3-4 in the South Atlantic Conference which tied them for fourth place.

There were many other outstanding players on this year's team which included Darryl Humbles and Lamar Adams who were both named First Team All Conference players. Joe Randolph, a junior, was nicknamed Elon's "human bullet" for his impressive speed on the football field. Also, Heath Hewett, a junior, moved into fifth place for all time passing yardage with a total of 3335 yards.

With the loss of only a few seniors, the 1992 football season promises to be a spectacular one for the Elon College Fightin' Christians. ANDREA SUBER

The Soviet Union Does Battle at Elon

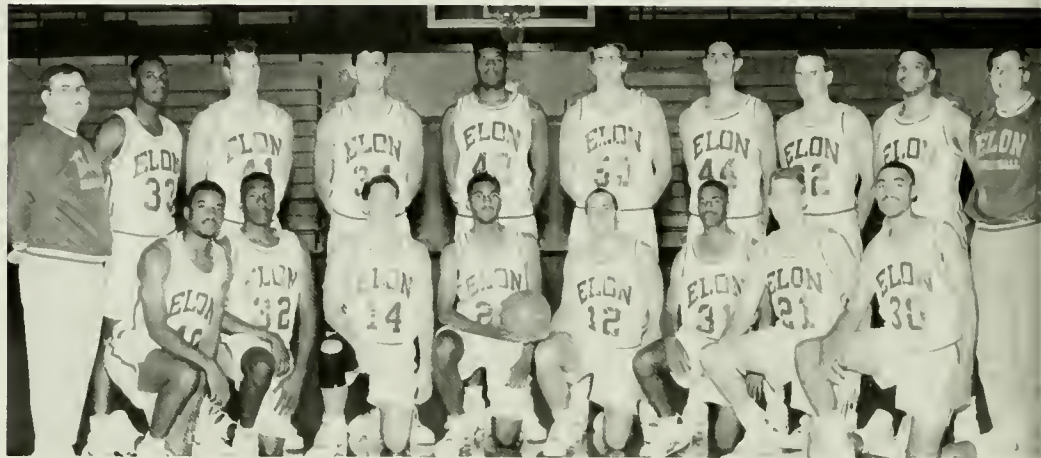

They hit the court with determination and dribbled with authority. Their shots passed through the net giving the crowd an air of delight. Ranging in height from 5'9" to 6'8", the Elon men's basketball team was out to dominate the game. With high expectations for this game, Coach Bob Burton began getting them ready for play. Five seniors led them for their final season. Anthony Aikers, Rob Hughes, Vernon Thompson, Pat Ceaser, and Pat Recio were all top players who finished their years of Elon basketball. They all had their moments on the court as the focus of the crowds.

The season had a special start this year. Just weeks before the Soviet Union dissolved one of its basketball teams visited Elon, for what may have been their last game as a team under the Soviet Union title. A full crowd showed up to give support to both the Soviets and Elon. After an exchange of gifts, it was time to play ball, the universal way. The Soviet team members may have been professionals in their own country, but here, they were playing at the college level. Even though Elon didn't beat this tough opponent, our team would go on to beat many others during the regular season, against teams of our own nation and division. They had a tough non-conference schedule and after several close games, the Fightin' Christians pulled off a winning season. SARA JOYNER

Women Score Big Conference Upsets

Going into the Conference Tournament with an 8-6 conference record and a 13-9 overall record, the Elon College Women's Basketball Team had an exciting season.

The highlight of the team's season was defeating the Lady Bulldogs of Wingate College, 94-63, in the conference opener. Wingate came into the game ranked number 14 in the NAIA pre-season polls, but left with their worst defeat since 1987. The game was made even more outstanding with every player on the Elon team scoring at some point.

The team struggled after suffering consecutive road defeats and dropping five of six conference games. On the comeback, they rallied to three straight wins led by Laura Case and Liz Ward.

With the leadership of seniors Annette Cain and Jana Siler, the team pulled out wins against conference rivals Presbyterian College and Mars Hill College. They also defeated Longwood College. Siler was elected South Atlantic Conference's Co-Player-of-the-Week twice during the season. These two outstanding players will be missed greatly by the team as well as their fans. ANDREA SUBER

Soccer Team Spends Year Rebuilding

This season for the men's soccer team was one of a definite growth period which involved team building. Although the team started off at a moderate pace, it gained momentum and ended the season with a final record of 4-10-3. The driving force and team building efforts peaked at the right time of the season that enabled Elon to play in the District Tournament. Unfortunately, they were defeated in the first game against Catawba.

The success of any team is not based on statistics alone, and Elon has definitely proved that. Elon had to endure many losses during the season such as the injury of the initial captain, Marcus Ford. Character of the team was built at this point by pulling together its assets to reach its goals. A major uplift for the team was Captain Derek Phillips. He was the only senior after Marcus Ford sustained his injury. Phillips motivated the team to work through struggles and make the best of every situation. It was a season of ups and downs.

Along with Phillips, other key players were Co-captain Chad Solomonson, Chad Lorentz, and Goalie Drew Hook.

Elon has made a firm foundation for a future team. With the experience that the younger players have gained through the season, they should be able to perfect it for a winning season. MARCY BAILEY

Young and Old Combine for Success

The season for the Elon College Women's Soccer Team seemed to be successful in every aspect. Combining experience of starting seniors Chris Greenspan and Heather Kline with the new found excitement of the younger starters, the team ended its season with a 15-4 record. Despite the outstanding qualities, and diversity of the unit as a whole, they ended the season short in the finals of the District Tournament against St. Andrews.

Overall, it was a year where everyone worked as a whole, only letting Division I teams defeat them. They proved that being a young team has great potential for future seasons, and by the end of this season, all of the athletes had shown that they were executing to their best ability. The team was full of spirit, confidence, and competitiveness with 100 percent striving efforts. It definitely shows that team building is an effective measure for success.

Elon's scheduled season may have ended, but a few of the women participated and represented the school at a volunteer clinic held by the Salvation Army in February. You see, always giving 100 percent turns you into winners, trophy or no trophy!

Lady Hitters Come on Strong

In certainly one of the most satisfying and succesful seasons in school history, the volleyball team finished the season with an overall record of 24-7 and culminated it with their first-ever appearance in the District 26 playoffs. Despite being defeated in the district title match by an unbeaten squad from Presbyterian College, head Coach Sue Leonard's Lady Fightin' Christians exceeded pre-season expectations. They also achieved or surpassed most, if not all, of the team's pre-season goals.

After winning their first five matches and 10 of their first 12, the Lady Fightin' Christians proved that they were for real by placing 2nd at the Milligan Tournament. Although Coach Leonard knew she had a solid team from the start, victories over two teams that had previously been ranked number one in their respective districts gave Elon a confidence that would carry them through the rest of the season.

There is no question the future looks bright for Elon volleyball. Next year's squad promises to be loaded with talent and depth due to the loss of only three seniors from this year's team. MIKE GAYNOR

Cheerleaders Gain Respect

Recently, cheerleading has been recognized as a legitimate sport all over the country. Cheerleaders are now being thought of as the true athletes they are. The situation at Elon is no different. Both the men and women cheerleaders, like all other athletes, spend countless, grueling hours trying out, practicing and working hard to have their skills perfected by game day. They are glad to finally have gained the appreciation their work deserves. KRISTIN TWILLEY

Intramurals Means Fun

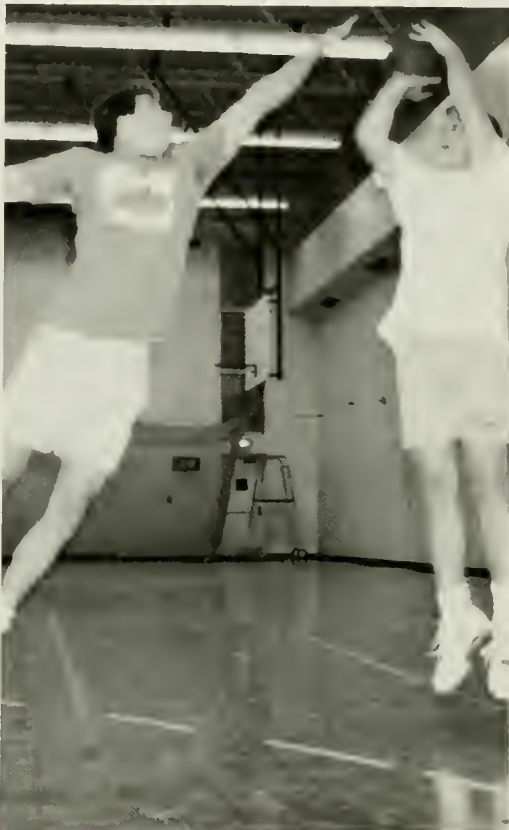

Intramural Recreational Services is for everyone! This is the battle cry of Rex Waters who has headed the program for the last two years. He and his staff of over 100 people attempt to provide an activity for every student on campus. This variety of activities includes: intramurals, fitness, sports clubs, trips, and a number of recreational facilities. All of these have drawn over 2,000 participants from students, faculty, and staff, and this can only get better.

On June 1, construction is scheduled to begin on the new athletic facilities. Waters sees it as a blessing for the program. The development will provide not only a recreational, but also a social center on campus. It will also allow for a higher quality of programming. The hopes are to broaden the scope of the existing program.

Overall, Waters believes Elon has a very active student body that sees his organization as an opportunity to have fun. He would like to thank all of the faculty, staff, and students for making his program a success. KRISTIN TWILLEY

The organizations of Elon set up tables and gathered around Scott Plaza to participate in the "Organization Sensation '91" fair.

Kelly McKeone talks to students interested in joining Habitat for Humanity. Habitat is a service organization whose main purpose is to help others.

Beth Lowery

In the attempt to juggle academics and organizational involvement, students took the extra leap to challenge themselves and to gain well-rounded experience. Outside the academic curriculum, organizations offered varied opportunities to students. With about 85 different organizations, students were involved in service-oriented clubs, honor societies, literary organizations, student activities, government, and Greek organizations.

The extracurricular sector of student life has evolved since the last leap year. New organizations include Elon Volunteers!, Habitat for Humanity, En-Act, Juggling Club, Women in Communications, and several Greek organizations.

The experiences gained through participating in organizations on campus proved valuable. Through group projects and individual leadership, students learned to fulfill their roles among their peers and to become both more culturally and socially aware.

"Organization Sensation"

The Organization Fair, entitled "Organization Sensation '91" gave all organizations on campus an opportunity to "sell" themselves to students. With tables set up around the fountain at Scott Plaza, each organization displayed signs and memorabilia which told something about the group to prospective members.

"Organization Sensation '91" did not happen without problems. On the scheduled day, rain prevented the event. Postponed for the following day, everything seemed to be coming together until the rain began once again. However, this time Felicia Massey, the director of the fair for the past three years, decided to go on as planned.

As members of each organization set their tables up in the rain, their luck changed and the skies cleared up.

There were many more organizations this year participating in the fair, and Massey explained, "Hundreds gathered around the fountain as a sign that once again - the fair was a success." BETH LOWERY

The HPEL Club, as a group, volunteers itself for the Special Olympics that is held at Elon. The support of this activity is very important to the hundreds of participants. It allows these special people to show their hidden talents and feelings that very rarely surface. It also allows the participants to feel like part of a group. On this special day many smiles, cheers, and friendly hugs are given and received. These smiles and cheers give these individuals a feeling of self-worth and need. This activity is very self-rewarding to both the participants and volunteers.

Members of the HPEL Club are more than just volunteers, they are true friends.

EN-ACT (Environmental Action) has been very active this year and was determined to bring recycling back to Elon. Our top priority of the Fall Semester was achieved by reimplementing a recycling program on campus.

One of the purposes of a college Fellowship of Christian Athletes group is to work with the area high schools. Each spring, all of the area schools get together with Elon College for the Weekend of Champions.

Testimonies and athletic events are the center of the weekend. The Elon College FCA members encourage the youth of Alamance County to believe in Jesus Christ for their help and salvation and to turn from drugs and alcohol. However, the greatest testimony to these young high school students is a demonstration of love by someone who is a role model. Whether college students want to admit it or not, they are role models.

Beta Beta Beta took its annual trip to Whitsett to see a herpetologist or collector of reptiles. Ron Keys allowed Tri-Beta members to view his vast collection which included live iguanas, tortoises, and snakes. Students were fascinated and repulsed as the reptiles hissed, rattled their tails, and flicked their tongues in greeting.

The brothers of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Inc. have been very active in several community, public, and campus activities. During Fall Semester, these brothers adopted a highway as well as adopted a little brother as part of the fraternity's national "guide right" program.

As far as social activities are concerned, KΑΨ is the reigning Elon College "step" champion. These brothers captured the crown in Elon's first "step" competition in April of 1991. KΑΨ also sponsored the first "Ladies Lockup" ever given on Elon's campus which was a big success. In this event, the brothers provided entertainment for women only.

Ben Holonich plays a video game in the recently renovated Back Door.

People and places alike can change quite a bit in four years -- as Elon College has since 1988, the last leap year. The physical, fiscal, and academic facets of the college have undergone constructive changes in order to improve the quality of education and college life.

A Leaping Difference

So what's the difference? It should be obvious: campus facilities have grown, tuition has increased, fluctuations in enrollment have occurred, students and faculty have come and gone. But, hopefully, the results have been positive.

From the last leap year to the present, Elon has made A Leaping Difference.

WHERE ARE ELON STUDENTS FROM?

ATHLETICS IMPROVE

Elon's athletic standings have changed a lot since 1988. The Fightin' Christians football team has improved their skills and gained confidence. Their popularity has also improved with the students. As always, basketball has stayed at unmeasurable popularity among students. Elon spirit is easily seen at all the games as we cheer on our great ball players.

Tennis and Golf have remained very strong in both the conference and district.

Elon recently began a move from the NAIA to the NCAA league. Although the move is not yet complete, Elon will eventually become a full member of the NCAA.

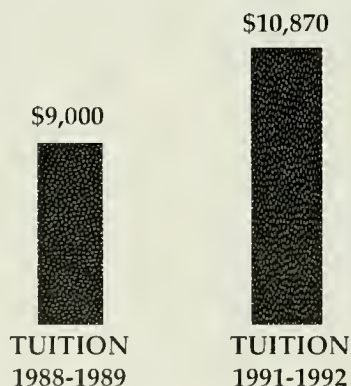

Recruiting for Elon athletic teams has made a major leap in the past few years. Coaches are spending more time looking over high school records and incoming freshmen skills as the college's athletics become more and more competitive.

*How much has
tuition increased?*

Organizations jump by 25 since 1988

Elon has about 85 campus organizations, which is almost 25 more than in 1988. Departmental, campus media, religious, service, social, and honor organizations are offered to all students. All provide members with a sense of accomplishment and belonging.

The number of organizations has increased because of the growing number of student interests and hobbies.

Requirements Have Changed

As Elon's Business and Communication's departments have expanded, so have the requirements. In the business majors such as accounting, marketing, management, etc., classes have been combined or cut and have increased the number of credit hours. Most of these classes are now four hours instead of three.

Similar changes have been made in the Communications Department. Both departments have increased enrollment of students and added new classes to help prepare those students for the careers ahead of them.

Ben Cannon

Need Help?

There is a Place to Go

Over the past years, Elon has expanded its counseling services by individual, group, family, and couple counseling. Elon College Counseling Services provides programs such as date/aquaintance rape, crisis pregnancy, roommate conflicts, substance abuse, and more.

Since 1988, the counseling services have been forced to become more serious and educated about topics of concern by students. The Resident Assistants have been better trained to be peer advisors and can help the students seek other campus resources.

Students feel more open and stronger about coming forward and asking for help.

Campus Shop Expands

Campus Shop renovations were made two years ago that made more space available for better clothing selection and displays. The reason for the space is the move of the book store from the shop to its own location. The Campus Shop now has a trade book section, also a new attraction.

Sidetrack has become a classier and convenient place to eat since the new changes were made.

The Sidetrack Grill

"Everything has changed at Sidetrack except for the name," said Pam Wiggins, a waitress.

Everything has changed: a new owner, new menu, and the biggest change of all... the added waitresses. Sidetrack was bought by the Browns, owners of Brown and Co. They renovated the inside, added more tables and now it has become a classier place to eat.

Students can now enjoy watching football games, as well as other programs on the big screen T.V. that was purchased for the Back Door.

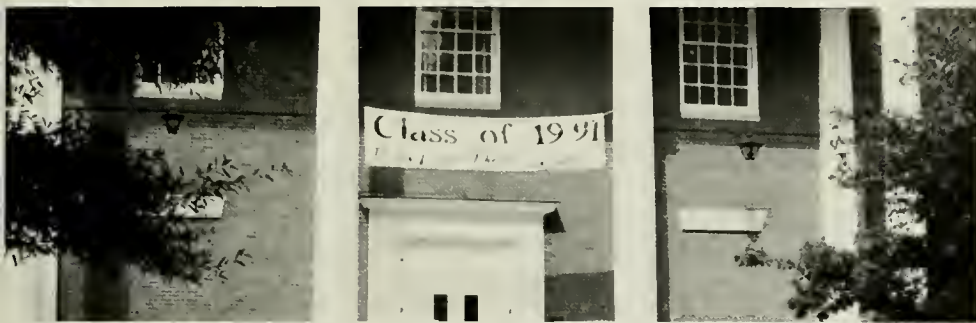

Ben Cannon

The Back Door

The Back Door, a fun and convenient place to eat or just hang out has been renovated this year. The biggest changes are the enlargement, addition of a pool table, an extra bar, and a big-screen television.

Students enjoy going to the Back Door because of its college atmosphere. It is a place to relax, have fun and take advantage of the betterment of the restaurant.

A large banner was placed in front of the library to show gratitude toward the class of 1991 for its endowment to the library. The endowment was the senior class gift.

Library Donation

A total of $25,000 was donated to the Holt Library for new books on all subjects by the class of 1991. The endowment was the class' senior gift to the school.

The banner was put up to encourage students to take advantage of the library's resources, as well as a reminder to the class of 1992 to not forget about the library when choosing its class gift. The new books will have plates inside to honor the class of 1991 for its gift. There are plans for enlargement and renovations that should start in a couple of years.

Better Equipment for WSOE

"WSOE is functioning better as a station than it was four years ago," said Kristin Meyer, the music director. There is new equipment, a new format and a new staff. The staff is talented, experienced and interesting. More news and talk shows have been incorporated into the format. The interest in the station has changed tremendously over the past four years and the station has become more community oriented.

Book Store Uses Church for Convenience

The Parish Hall was the destination for students to purchase text books. Students were able to choose which copy of their required books they wanted. The Parish Hall accommodates more people, therefore making the book sales convenient.

Books were sold in the Campus Shop and later moved to the Book Gallery, both places were jam packed.

Students wait in line to purchase their books located in the Parish Hall.

Career Planning Receives a New Placement

Elon's Career Planning and Placement Office helps students uncover their abilities and personal values so that they can come up with a suitable major and prepare for a career.

Two years ago, the Career Planning and Placement Office was moved from Alamance to a house located on Haggard Avenue. The move allowed for much more space.

Seminars, lunches, and meetings are now held there.

The office has a lot to offer and students are encouraged to use the facilities.

Felicia Massey

The Career Planning and Placement Office moved into a house two years ago to accommodate its growing services.

Ben Cannon

Pam Brumbaugh discusses an internship possibility with Andy Bare. Many students participate in internships to get experience.

SECURITY

Elon Security works closely with the Town Police to ensure safety for the students and faculty of the college.

Campus Security has also added several new security officers to the staff.

Ben Cannon

Campus Security is now located in its own house on North O'Kelly Avenue. It used to be in a small office in West Dorm.

O'Kelly Cut Short

Once a short-cut for many Elon College students, O'Kelly Avenue was the cause of many unnecessary accidents. So, during the summer, O'Kelly was blocked off and put under construction.

Grass was planted and shrubs were planted to add to the beauty of the school.

No longer an avenue, it may be an inconvenience for some, however, it may pose for the prevention of many accidents.

Felicia Massey

No longer a thru-way avenue, O'Kelly went under construction in mid summer. Although it took getting used to, many feel that it relieved the possibility of accidents.

Reconstructing Carlton

The Carlton building is under renovation to create more classroom space. For now, this has put the school into some frenzy because of the need to relocate classrooms, some of which are held in the Elon College Church.

When Carlton is ready, however, there will be much more classroom space and the hassle of having classes scattered all over will cease. The renovation project is expected to be completed by the fall of 1992.

Beth Lowery

Carlton went under construction in the summer to create more classroom space.

The posted sign announces that the new classroom renovations will be completed by Fall 1992.

Holland House Renovated

Ben Cannon

The Holland House was once the residence of the Elon College president, presently Dr. Fred Young. Elon decided to move the president's house out into Burlington and use the Holland House for closer campus activities.

Inside the house are offices, such as Development and the representatives of the Parent Program.

The renovation has provided Elon with better facilities.

Once President Young's home, the Holland House went through some renovation and now houses offices once located in Powell.

The Varsity Grille provides a convenient place for students and faculty to get something to eat or just relax and socialize.

If you know your local geography, you know that Elon College is more than a school; it is a town, a community. It is made up of residents, businesses, gathering places, churches, and -- of course -- the college itself.

The Elon College community provides a tremendous amount of support to the college and vice versa. Students "hang out" in places such as Side Track Grille, shop in the local stores, and even live in off-campus housing.

By purchasing ads, area businesses provide An ADed

Leap to publications including the Phi Psi Cli and The Pendulum. These businesses are part of a unique network between the college and the town.

The town was chartered "Elon College" in 1889 when the college itself was established, creating an unusual bond between the two. Ever since, the students and faculty of the college have lived in harmony with the residents of the town.

Today, the relationship continues as Elon College expands its academic and physical boundaries.

The Legend of Leap Year

What is Leap Year Day? What constitutes a Leap Year?
And how did it all get started in the first place?

In 45 B.C. Roman ruler Julius Caesar initiated a calendar reform. With the help of his astronomers, Caesar declared the solar year at 365 days, six hours or 365 1/4 days. After four years, the extra six hours per year equaled an additional day. Caesar determined that following three years of 365 days each, there should be a fourth year of 366 days. Caesar added the extra day to February, which having only 28 days, was the shortest month of his new Roman calendar.

February 29, the so called "intercalary day," was installed between others in the normal calendar and occurs in a Leap Year. A tradition was established that allowed women to propose to men during Leap Year. The men were made to pay a fine if they refused the offer. The privilege of proposing was restricted to Leap Day, also known as Bachelor's Day.

Following is a list of events that have fallen on February 29 in the past:

1288 - A law was passed in Scotland allowing women the privilege to propose marriage.

1504 - Columbus used the total eclipse of the moon to scare Jamaican natives into supplying him with food on his fourth voyage to America.

1872 - England's Queen Victoria narrowly missed death at the hand of a would-be assassin, Albert O'Conner, an 18-year-old revolutionary.

1956 - President Dwight D. Eisenhower announced his candidacy for re-election.

1956 - The great blizzard of 1956 in Western Europe finally ended. It had lasted the entire month of February, causing 1,000 deaths.

1960 - Agadir, Morocco, was hit by a major earthquake, a tidal wave and fire, causing 12,000 deaths.

One Last...

The everlasting oaks once again ushered in the spring, and inevitably, the near close of another year. But, in retrospect, leaping from one event to the other, the year -- the seasons, the classes, and the games won and lost -- became cohesive.

We celebrated Fightin' Christian victories and New Year 1992. We laughed at comedians -- and at each other.

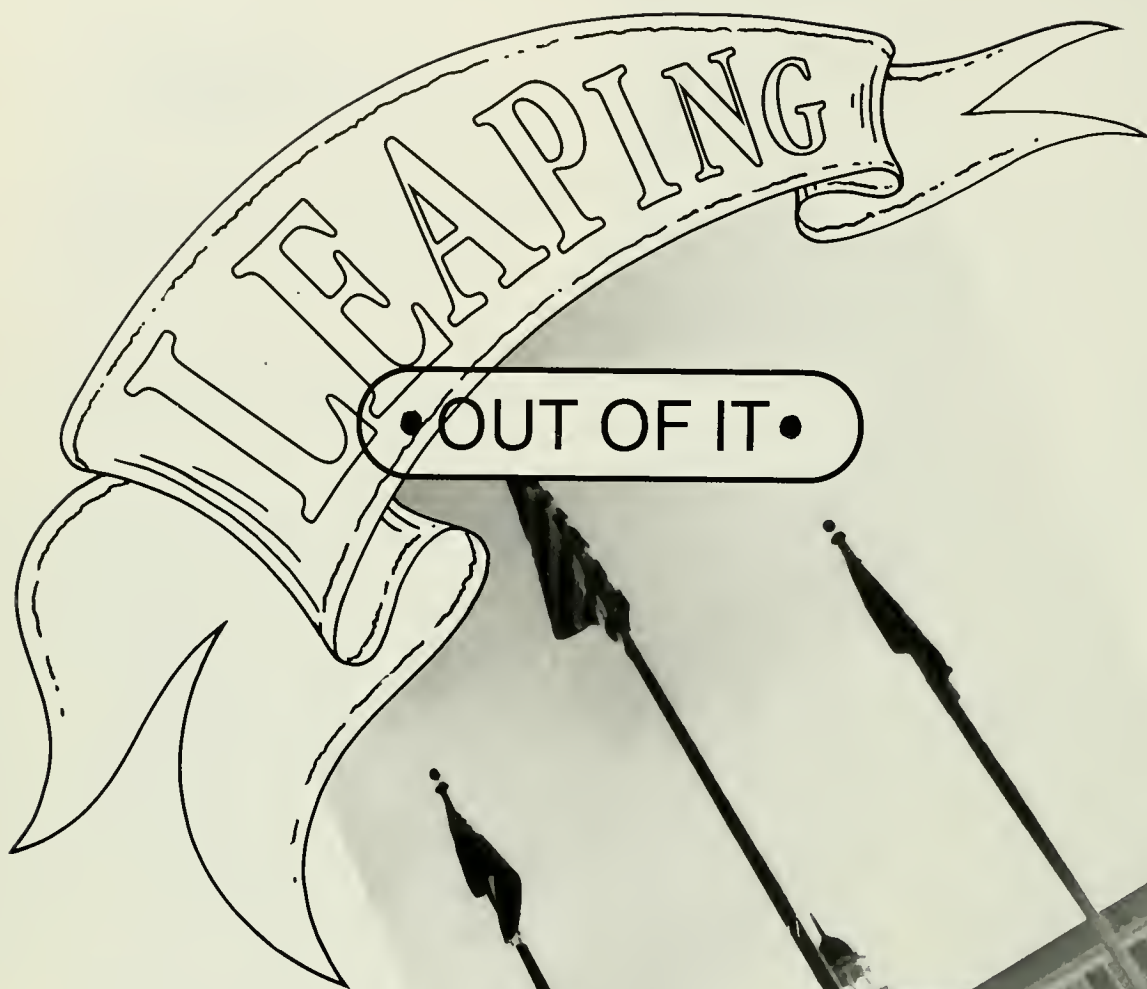

Finally, eight months after Fall Convocation, about 630 graduates leapt out of Elon.
